Appendix A – Sample Service Members Civil Relief Act (SCRA) Military Verification Form

Appendix B – Sample Military Status Report

Appendix C – Sample DD 214 Certificate of Release or Discharge from Active Duty
1) How to find out if someone is on active duty. Usually it will come out right away that an individual is in the military. To verify they are in the military ask them for their military identification card. An example is provided below. They are now called the Common Access Card (CAC). The CAC, a "smart" card about the size of a credit card, is the standard identification for active-duty military personnel, Selected Reserve, DoD civilian employees, and eligible contractor personnel. It is also the principal card used to enable physical access to buildings and controlled spaces, and it provides access to defense computer networks and systems. The expiration date will help you determine whether the individual is currently on active duty.

Another way to determine whether someone is on active duty is to use the Defense Manpower Data Center’s (DMDC) Military Verification Service. Provisions of the Service Members Civil Relief Act (SCRA) allow access to this information. The website is: https://www.dmdc.osd.mil/appj/scra/scraHome.do (a copy of the form is attached as Appendix A).

You will need the individuals full name, social security number and date of birth. When the check is performed you will be able to obtain written documentation that the individual is in the military and it will contain the Department of Defense seal and signature.

The result of the search is a Military Status Report (see Appendix B). This form can be submitted to the court as verification of current active military service.

* Please note that you may be able to verify that the individual is in the military without their social security number but in that case the Department of Defense cannot authoritatively assert that they are a member of the armed forces.

2) How to find out where someone is serving on active duty. It is also a good idea to find out where the service member’s duty station is located. Each branch of the military has a locator service. The addresses are listed below. The locator service is free to immediate family members and government officials. Everyone else must pay a $3.50 non-refundable fee. Checks are to be made out to the U.S. Treasure. Information for the locator services is located at: http://www.defense.gov/faq/pis/PC04MLTR.html.

United States Army:

Due to security reasons, the Army has closed their World-Wide Locator Service to the general public. To access the Army locator, you now need an Army Knowledge Online account (that means you need to be a member of the Army, Army National Guard, Army Reserves, Army Retired member, or an Army Dependent).

Other requests to locate active duty Army members are handled on a case-by-case basis. Send your written requests to:

United States Navy:

United States Marine Corps:

United States Air Force:

3) How to determine whether an individual is a veteran. The Veterans Sentencing Mitigation Statute (Minnesota Statute § 609.115, Subd 10) only says that the court has to inquire as to “whether the defendant is … a veteran of the armed forces of the United States.” The term “veteran” means a citizen of the United States or a resident alien who has been separated under honorable conditions from any branch of the armed forces of the United States if (please note that an honorable discharge is not required under this statute):
he or she has either served on active duty for 24 months of continuous active duty service, or
• has been disabled while serving on active duty, or
• has active service as a reservist.

In all cases, the United States Secretary of Defense must certify the active service and the honorable discharge of the veteran. This is normally done by submission of Department of Defense Form 214 (DD 214) – Certificate of Release or Discharge from Active Duty (see Appendix C).

* In 2009 the Minnesota Legislature created a new law in which Minnesota veterans may elect to have “Veteran” listed on their Minnesota driver’s license. Qualified veterans will need to provide a copy of their DD 214 for verification of their veteran status.

4) How to obtain a copy of a DD 214. The Department of Defense Form 214 (DD 214) - Certificate of Release or Discharge from Active Duty is the document you will need to provide proof of military service. Upon release from active duty a veteran is given several copies of this form. A veteran uses this document throughout the rest of their life to gain access to veterans’ benefits. It can provide proof for the following:

• Proof of military service for employers, the VA, and the Social Security Administration
• Proof of service in a combat zone
• Proof of assignment to a particular unit or ship
• Identify and verify authorized awards and decorations
• Retirement benefits (if applicable)
• Government employment preferences
• Membership in veterans’ organizations

If the individual does not have a copy of their DD 214 you will need to obtain one for them. You can request a copy of the DD 214 from the National Personnel Records Center. The following website provides details for obtaining the DD 214: http://www.archives.gov/st-louis/military-personnel/public/general-public.html. There are specific procedures for assisting the veteran in obtaining the document. When making the request the following information is required:

• Full name of veteran
• Social security number
• Military service number (if applicable)
• Branch of service

5) How to read a DD 214. A Department of Defense Form 214 (DD 214) Report of Separation from the Armed Services of the United States is generally issued when a service member performs active duty or at least 90 consecutive days of active duty training. Information shown on the DD 214 may include the service member’s: (See Appendix C for a sample DD 214)

- Date and place of entry into active duty (Block 7.a)
- Home address at time of entry (Block 7.b)
- Date and place of release from active duty (Block 8.b)
- Home address after separation (Block 19.a)
- Last duty assignment (Block 8.a) and rank (Block 4.b)
- Military job specialty (Block 11)
- Military education (Block 14)
- Decorations, medals, badges, citations, and campaign awards (Block 13)
- Total creditable service (Block 12)
- Foreign service credited (Block 12.f)
- Separation information (type of separation, character of service, authority and reason for separation, separation and reenlistment eligibility codes) (Blocks 23 & 24)

The report of separation form issued in most recent years is the DD Form 214. Before January 1, 1950, several similar forms were used by the military services, including the WD AGO 53, WD AGO 55, WD AGO 53-55, NAVPERS 553, NAVMC 78PD, and the NAVCG 553.

There are generally five types of discharges. They are as follows:

- Honorable
- General (under honorable conditions)
- Other than honorable
- Bad conduct discharge
- Dishonorable

Normally veterans’ benefits and disability will depend on the type of discharge received. You will need to consult with the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs or one of the resources listed in Section 8 below to determine eligibility.

6) How to determine whether a veteran is a combat veteran. The most common way to determine whether a veteran has served in a combat zone is to look at Section 13 of the DD 214 – “Decorations, Medals, Badges, Citations and Campaign Ribbons Awarded or Authorized.” If a veteran has participated in direct combat the following medals or badges should be listed:
- Army: Combat Infantryman Badge – for infantryman

!Combat Infantryman Badge

Combat Action Badge – for non-infantry

!Combat Action Badge

Combat Medical Badge

!Combat Medical Badge

- Navy: Combat Action Ribbon

!Combat Action Ribbon

- Marine Corps: Combat Action Ribbon

!Combat Action Ribbon

- Air Force – Combat Action Medal (authorized as of March 15, 2007)

!Combat Action Medal

- Coast Guard: Combat Action Ribbon

!Combat Action Ribbon

You can determine where they participated in combat operations by looking in Section 18 of the DD 214. This section should say that they “served in a designated imminent danger pay area.” It should also indicate where they served (e.g. Service in Afghanistan from [date] to [date]). You can also look at the campaign medals such as the Iraq or Afghanistan Campaign medals for current conflict veterans. Please note that for women veterans determining whether or not they were in combat can be problematic because of the Combat Exclusion Law (women). While the exclusion has now been repealed it is still problematic to determine if a woman was in combat. (The sample provided in Appendix C shows that this veteran is a combat veteran of the war in Afghanistan)

7) How to connect a veteran with the Department of Veteran Affairs. If you have a veteran that comes through your door and you find out that they are currently not receiving health care (mental or physical) or disability benefits from the U. S. Department of Veterans Affairs there are several places you can contact. Below is a list of agencies and organizations:

- Vet Center. Vet Centers provide readjustment counseling and outreach to all veterans (you do not need to be qualified for VA benefits) who served in combat or who have been a victim of military sexual trauma regardless of combat. The Vet Center website is http://www.vetcenter.va.gov/.

- OEF/OIF Veterans. The U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs operates a special program for Operation Enduring Freedom (OEF) and Operation Iraqi Freedom (OIF) Program. The OEF/OIF website is: http://www.oefoif.va.gov/. These programs are staffed around the country. They provide assistance in connecting veterans with a variety of benefits and services including, education benefits, health care, disability benefits and suicide prevention. (See Appendix E for an informational brochure)

- County Veteran Service Officers (CVSOs). Each county in each State has at least one CVSO. They are also an excellent resource in obtaining benefits and services for a veteran. The website http://nacvso.org/.

- U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs (VA). With advancing technology the VA has built a very robust and valuable website. The website is located at: http://www.va.gov/. Veterans can now apply on-line for just about any type of benefit or service that is available to them. It is advisable, however, to contact one of the agencies listed above for detailed and assistance in successfully obtaining those benefits or services.
